The Anambas Islands

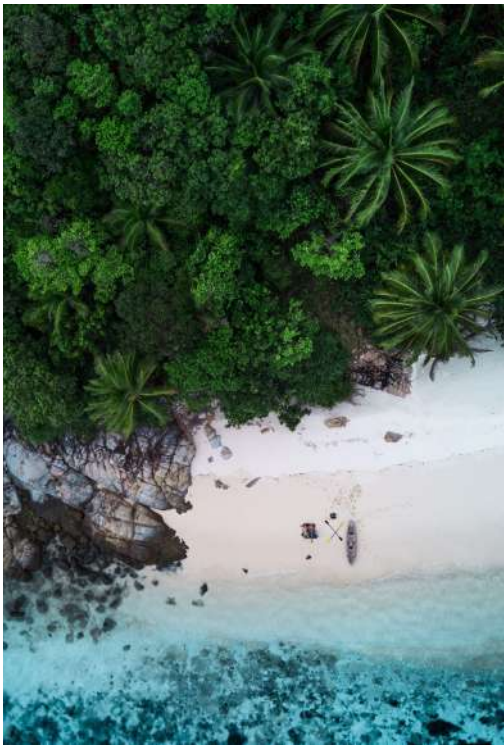

The Anambas islands are a group of 255 pristine islands located in the Riau Archipelago, the South China Sea between Singapore and Borneo.

Only few of these islands are sparsely populated with local fishing villages, and barely known to the outside world. These unspoiled islands are surrounded by crystal clear warm waters and coral reefs, hosting abundant sea-life with unrivaled snorkeling and diving.

Turtles, black tip reef sharks, large school of pelagic fishes, manta rays and even whale sharks are common in the region.

Ideal anchorages, post cards perfect lagoons, white sandy beaches and dramatic waterfalls round out one of our planets last unknown archipelagos. Due to its beauty and rich marine biodiversity, the Anambas islands have been declared a new Indonesian National Marine park in 2011.

Explore an unchartered territory

Chinese and European sailors first discovered this vast marine territory several centuries ago, but the region remains a great exploration playground for sailors, divers and nature lovers.

Once arriving in Letung airport it becomes clear that you are one of the first sailors to explore this unchartered territory. During the approach aboard the plane you will see the closely scattered islands within the Archipelago that boast with hundreds of bays and beaches for anchorage.

Whether you're an experienced sailor or on board a ship for the first time, you will love the Anambas Islands, an area so versatile and large that you can beach hop for weeks on end or go on multi-day blue-water passages. Or both, of course. Be one of the first to join us discover and explore this amazing and untouched region!

Getting There is Easy!

All our cruises around the Anambas Islands start from the north beach of Pulau Jemaja, very close by Letung Airport (airport code "LMU") where our crew will pick you up.

From Singapore

From the very well connected airport hub of Singapore, it will take a 3h journey only to reach this heavenly area!

1/ SINGAPORE to BATAM - Reach Batam by ferry boat

Batam is an Indonesian island located only 20km far from Singapore & 15km far from Johor in Malaysia.

From Singapore, many companies offer daily ferries to Batam via various terminals. It's an easy 45 min ferry journey to reach Batam island.

The easiest way to travel from Singapore to Batam is to take the ferry from terminals "Tanah Merah" or "Singapore Harbour-Front" to "Batam Center Ferry Terminal".

We recommend the following ferry companies: Majestic Ferry (daily departures every hour from 8:10 to 21:20), BatamFast (daily departures every hour from 7:40 to 21:40); Horizon Ferry (daily departures every hour from 8:15 to 21:15). Ferry prices vary between 15 USD to 30 USD/ per way per person depending of the ferry company. There is a 1h time difference between

Singapore & Batam, Indonesia (1h less for Batam). Once arrived in Batam Center Ferry Terminal and your Indonesian immigration procedures completed, you have to take a taxi to Batam Airport (Hang Nadim Airport, BTH), which is at 10km/ 20 min drive from the ferry terminal. (Taxi price around 10 USD maximum)

2/ BATAM to JEMAJA ISLAND - Fly with Wings Air

From Batam Airport (BTH) to Anambas/Letung Airport (LMU) there are only 4 flights a week (Monday, Wednesday, Friday & Sunday) operated by Wings Air.

Wings Air is a low cost airline branch of Lion Air, they count a fleet of 65 ATR-72 planes, operating short-haul flights widely throughout Indonesian islands and neighbouring countries.

To book your flight from Batam (BTH) to Anambas (LMU) airport, the best is to book directly your ticket on lionAir.co.id or via a flight platform such as traveloka.com or skyscanner.com

Our crew will be waiting for you at Letung Airport and will bring you to the yacht to start your sailing adventure!
